Henry Purcell

The musical score consists of four staves of music in common time, key signature of one sharp. The vocal parts are written in soprano and alto clefs. The basso continuo part is written in bass clef. The lyrics are integrated into the music, with some words written above the staff and others below. Performance markings such as slurs, grace notes, and dynamic signs are included. The score is divided into measures numbered 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, and 30.
